

Mind the gap

At least for a non-native speaker I think the important point is to understand and be understood...

...but if I was a native speaker maybe I would go like 'oh my God!'.

Bridge the gap

It's not your mother language, so you can say whatever you want.